

LIBERATED ARTS

Congratulations to these Huron scholars on being published in Liberated Arts!

Lutfullah Ahmadzai

What does it mean to reimagine the role of the citizen for the next generation?

Jamie Angevine

"Another American Who Saw Too Many Movies": 'Die Hard' as a Captivity Narrative for the Reaganite Audience

Laura Annable

British Public Opinion on German Jewish Refugees during the Second World War

Gabriel Chaouat

Tundra + Flora = Orchestra?

Griffin Marling

Disillusioned towards Misaligned Construction: A Critique of the "Disorder" Conception of Autism

Isabelle Messenger-Zacher

The Lyric Perspective: Elizabeth Bishop's "Filling Station"

Mathieu Pare

AU Peace Operations in Somalia from AMISOM to the Present: Assessing AUSSOM's Prospects for Success

Nadia Schultz

A Bridge Between Borders: On Joy Harjo's "Conflict Resolution for Holy Beings"

Sophia Shelley

Reclaiming Emancipation: Memory, Afrofuturism, and Black Girlhood in Justina Ireland's Dread Nation

Jesse Vanderveeken

Social Hierarchy and Pastoralism in the Epic of Gilgamesh

Miranda Vaughan

What do we deserve? Criminality, guilt, and punishment

Sarina Virani

Readings, Recollections, and Relationships: Exploring the Impact of Vancouver Black Library