

Plan No Immediate Action In Discrimination Issue

DRESDEN (Staff) — Hugh not be a panacea to kill the root of this evil. I am looking for observance of the law not based on compulsion but rather on the fact that discriminatory practices and observance of this law (Fair Accommodation Practices Act) should be based on the fact it is just equitable and proper.

The meeting was planned after Mr. Daley said Wednesday there would be no prosecution of Dresden restaurant owners who admitted refusing to serve Negroes.

"We are most disappointed Mr. Daley did not make public the contents of the report given him by Judge William Schwenger of Hamilton, who investigated the complaints," Mr. Burnette said.

"The judge was very fair but we feel he must have recommended prosecution to Mr. Daley," he said.

Mr. Daley said the reason for not prosecuting was "this would

The act, which came into effect this June, prohibits discrimination in places where the public is customarily admitted and provides fines up to $50 for individuals and $100 for companies, on conviction for violation.

"Everyone wants to know what he (Mr. Daley) intends doing," Mr. Burnette said. "what was in the report is everyone's business."

He said the association would be happy if Mr. Daley could bring about a quiet settlement of the issue without further publicity. "repeat again," he said. "We are not after anyone's scalp — just equality."
